

WHAT ONE BULLET DID.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE ENQUIRER

Cincinnati Enquirer (1872-1922); Oct 4, 1902;
ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The Cincinnati Enquirer (1841 - 1922)

pg. 9

WHAT ONE BULLET DID.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE ENQUIRER.

Olive Hill, Ky., October 3. — At Reeder Postoffice, Nannie, the eight-year-old daughter of Joe Gillam, dropped a revolver. The weapon discharged a ball that passed through her knee, and took off one of the fingers of her grandmother, aged 80. The ball lodged in the aged lady's temple, and she will die. The doctors say the girl's leg will have to be amputated above the knee.

MRS. BURDETTE'S ILLNESS.

Los Angeles, Cal., October 3.—Robert J. Burdette to-day made the following statement to the Associated Press:

"My wife is not suffering from brain congestion, as has been published, nor is she seriously ill. She suffered from a severe attack of headache, but is now convalescent, and will go East this month."

NO DEATH IN HALF CENTURY.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE ENQUIRER.

Brookville, Ind., October 3.—To-day the sixty-first anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. John King was celebrated. They reared five children, and for 55 years there was no death in the family.

MURDERED HIS SON.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., October 3.—Noah Hale, living near here, to-day killed his son and seriously wounded his wife. The murderer then fled to the woods.